The OTL Celebrates Asian, Pacific Islander, and Desi American Heritage Month

In May, we celebrate Asian, Pacific Islander, and Desi American (APIDA) Heritage Month. APIDA is a classification that intentionally includes South Asians \(Desi\) as part of the community and highlights the diversity of identities and ethnicities including East Asian, South Asian, Southeast Asian, and Pacific Islander. As part of this heritage month, it is important to educate yourself about the cultural contributions of these communities as well as acknowledge the lived experiences of members of these communities which include significant challenges in the face of anti-Asian racism. Take a moment to listen to the new TED talk by Eileen Cheng-yin Chow called "How did you get here? On caring for strangers and other Chinatown stories" which explores how to shift our attention to "each other's stories of transit, arrival, and becoming, rather than fixating on points of origin," creating new ways to care for each other and build community.

Join Us for Global Accessibility Awareness Day!

Join us either in-person or on Zoom on Thursday, May 19 for our upcoming Global Accessibility Awareness Day \(GAAD\) event at DU. GAAD is made possible by a collaboration of the Office of Teaching and Learning (OTL), the Office of Equal Opportunity & Title IX, the Office of Information Technology, the Division of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion, the Office of the Provost, and Community + Values. As GAAD states, "The purpose of GAAD is to get everyone talking, thinking and learning about digital access and inclusion, and the more than One Billion people with disabilities/impairments." Come learn and talk together as we hear from a panel of DU community members about their stories and experiences. Learn more about how you can ensure accessibility is a core part of our community and about actions you can take today. For our in-person attendees, we will have delicious empanadas from Maria Empanada, a local Denver restaurant that serves a variety of meat and vegetarian empanadas.
