

Scholarship of Teaching and Learning Faculty Fellowship

I. Overview

The Scholarship of Teaching and Learning Faculty Fellowship is a yearlong program that is hosted by the Office of Teaching and Learning. Collaborating primarily with the Director of Scholarship of Teaching and Learning and Faculty Learning Communities, the SoTL Faculty Fellow will engage in activities to explore advancing new ways of understanding and evaluating student learning, as well as increasing belonging and leadership capacity. Faculty participants will be guided through the process of undertaking SoTL project from start to finish, with feedback from and interactions with the other members of the cohort as well as the program director, which culminates in a public presentation of the completed SoTL project at the SoTL Research Symposium.

All faculty selected will participate in three working retreats paid for by the OTL, along with the supply expense of $350.

II. Responsibilities

- Participate in SoTL programming and complete deliverables: Faculty participants must be willing to travel to three SoTL events that are held off-campus in the Denver Metro Area.
 - 3-day Fall SoTL Retreat (August 31-Sept. 2)
 - 2-day Winter SoTL Retreat (December 8-9)
 - 2-day Summer SoTL Retreat (June 15-16)
- Complete SoTL artifacts: Faculty participants are expected to provide three deliverables, each of which are connected to the three SoTL events.
 - A SoTL proposal (September)
 - A mid-year SoTL review (January)
 - Presentation of the completed SoTL poster (August)
- SoTL Faculty Learning Community: Faculty participants should attend monthly SoTL FLC meetings throughout the year. During these meetings, faculty participants will spend time together exploring questions centered on teaching and learning, which include, but are not limited to, effective pedagogy, learning science, challenges of teaching and learning, accessibility in higher education, assessments, and curricular development.

III. Application Process

Faculty on all series can apply.

To be considered, applicants should submit one (1) PDF of the following application materials:

- Abbreviated curriculum vitae (two-page maximum)
- Statement of your interest in the SoTL Faculty Fellowship Program (one-page maximum, single-spaced)
- Brief description of a teaching and learning question that you would like to investigate (one-page maximum). Please note that in most cases the projects will get revised as the Fellows participate in the program throughout the year.

For best consideration, submit your application materials by Friday, July 29th, 2022 at 5 pm. In case you are having trouble uploading your materials, you may also send your supporting materials to kayoung.kim@du.edu.
